Introduction

Welcome to your Past Life report. Whereas the birthchart is a symbolic road map describing your current life, the Past Lives chart is a blueprint of your previous incarnations. The pages that follow will help shed some light on themes related to your past life instincts. First, let's talk about reincarnation which is the belief that the current incarnation (as depicted by our birthchart) is linked to the lives that we have previously led. This collection of past influences points to particular experiences you might encounter again so that you can further your growth and fully develop your creative potential. These past impressions go far in shaping many of our current thoughts and choices. There are certain gifts a person seems to possess right out of the womb! It's as though destiny or fate leads one to realize these attributes. Of course, we still have to show ambition and make the effort in order to keep our dreams alive. This report may give confirmation to talents that you already know you have or open your eyes to ones that you have yet to discover.

Our past lives are alive and well in our consciousness. This may already be apparent to you. But on the other hand, these experiences can lie beyond the threshold of our conscious mind's awareness. What is doing the remembering, if our mind isn't? Call it your soul, higher consciousness or whatever explanation feels right to you.

Have you ever heard about karma, that great law of cause and effect? An old timeless saying sums up the whole process: "You reap what you sew." There are actions and thoughts that defined us in other lives, or have guided us to where we are in the present. They don't really exert any control over us. We have freedom of choice. That's a strong message to remember when reading this report.

Also, don't panic if you read something that says you were not a perfect person. Nobody is in the current one! Use the report as a learning tool. The idea is to keep developing and evolving. It's balancing the cosmic rhythm of past and present that presents each of us with a challenge. Do we respond positively or negatively? With hope or doubt? Many of our tendencies are linked to previous incarnations. Certain patterns have likely been by our side over many lifetimes. As we grow and expand our awareness, it becomes very possible to step beyond the trappings of past life baggage.

No doubt you will read various sections that seem to contradict each other. Each could be true about you. It's important to realize that many different dimensions of ourselves live within us. Each of us is composed of memories from so many past lives, combined with an assortment of ways we have learned to deal with reality in this life, that make us complex beings. See which descriptions ring true to you as you read through the following pages. You will notice some traits described have a repeating theme.

I hope you find this report an enjoyable ride into your past life instincts and thought patterns. They are somewhere in your consciousness. Perhaps some of what you read will strike a familiar chord. After all, these pages are all about your past life loves, creative pursuits, adventures, travels, highs and lows, over many lifetimes. Happy navigating!

The Passport

In this section are the first, middle and last names of your Past Lives astrological identity, the Sun, Moon, and Past Lives Ascendant. Each of these three building blocks will be discussed as to how they actively shaped many of your former lives. But before you meet these three key players, you will start your tour through memory lane with the North Node of the Moon. The North Node contains a special message about what was your overall life purpose. It was a constant rhythm pulsating in your consciousness to keep you on target toward your true purposes. It was a celestial compass trying to guide you to walk your talk with greater clarity. So sit back, and enjoy reading your past lives primer.

Node in Leo

You had a history of expressing a dramatic passion. One of your key impulses was to seek out ways to shine. Your soul was normally on ready alert to reincarnate, energized through knowing the creative sparks were soon to begin. The archetypal theme for your destiny was to be a promoter. A crucial lesson was that it was okay to be determined, but not with excessive force and arrogance. You attracted attention when you found self-confidence. Your actions inspired others to get moving. Believing in your ability ignited the ego strength needed to take you far.

When you didn't assume enough of your own power or individuality, you deprived yourself of great potential. A trickster was when you continually talked yourself into marching to someone else's drumbeat. Eventually you either rebelled or lost all of your momentum. Finding a way to balance playing a few of your own tunes while fitting into the melody of others was a key to your freedom. You needed equality and independence. Feeling the excitation of personal autonomy and having the impulse to be an inventor was stimulating. A fondness for new trends kept your thoughts pulsating in the future. You fell in love with individuals who appreciated your youthful and enterprising spirit.

Node in 1st house

What types of activities did you participate in that furthered your soul growth? When you took the initiative to courageously put your ideas into motion, life rewarded you. You found that waiting too long to make decisions cooled your interest quickly. A common concern was "who am I?" When you didn't panic and start looking for too much of yourself in relationships, you more easily managed to stay out of karma's way. What sorts of experiences motivated you? The freedom to act spontaneously. You had leadership qualities that people perceived to have a potential for being decisive and strategic. Your energy levels peaked when you were in a competitive mode. Indecision is what took the punch out of you. You were more fluid in movement and happier when not worrying too much about how others would respond to your actions. If you became too self-focused your fans didn't stay as loyal. Being assertive kept you on track as much as becoming too attacking made you seem like an unruly warrior. Somewhere always hiding in the caverns of your memory banks were daredevil instincts mixed with a tinge of weighing your options. When using them wisely and appropriately, life was colored with a never-ending, adventure-filled story.

Sun: Creativity, Ego, Self-expression

Sun in Cancer:

The sign of Cancer the crab lighted the early-summer astrological skies at your birth into this life. Let's explore what significance this had in regard to your past lives. In traditional astrology the keyword phrase for Cancer is "I feel". This feeling was greatly linked to intuition. You had a pattern connected to tuning into your innermost self. Establishing a sense of security dominated many of your past lives. Home was a sacred space in previous incarnations, becoming a sanctuary or even a safe haven. The saying "the home is a castle" applied to you.

Archetypes for Cancer include the nurturer, protector, or hermit. You usually thrived on caring for others whether this be people, pets, or plants. Emotions were downright exhausting to endure. There were times when you grew fed up with being relied upon too heavily. Intimacy was a challenge. Having balanced dependency needs was a key to happiness. Your moods were key barometers of your thoughts in one lifetime after another.

The cosmic principle at work through many of your past incarnations was to insulate yourself from harm's way. This isn't saying you were always passive or looking for the easy way out. Quite the contrary, there were lifetimes when you regularly moved forcefully and decidedly. You found ego strength through creating new enterprises. Delight was experienced in watching anything grow that was under your care. You felt lost when your most cherished people and goals disappeared. You came into this life solarized through a sign promoting intuitive vision. This was a theme that ran throughout your incarnations and was the key to self-mastery. It was when you managed to balance your mind and heart that you were on top of your game.

Sun in 3rd house

You had solar power that went right through your mental processes in previous lives. It radiated out curiously and quickly, taking advantage of new learning opportunities. You enjoyed a sense of pride in your communication ability. People responded to your confident ideas. Your creative vitality became awakened when slipping out of the usual routines. Repetitive thinking bored you in a hurry. Changing circumstances delighted you.

If there was a challenge, it was getting distracted by walking in too many directions simultaneously. It's not that you couldn't do this successfully. You did at times lose your focus. Your perceptions were your key to opening doors of opportunity. Bouncing concepts off of the minds of others was stimulating. The exchange of information with peers or colleagues made you feel invigorated. Experiences that offered diversity were pleasing. Insightful ideas lived brightly through you. Your self-expression found inspiration through travel and education. A change of scenery was your way of keeping problems in perspective. The world responded positively to your energizing mental outlook, but less favorably when you seemed scattered. Channeling nervous energy into productive outlets was rewarding. You found fulfillment in influencing positive change in others.

Moon: Sense of Security, Roots, Feelings

Moon in Aquarius:

You were lunarized at birth through the sign of Aquarius. What does this say about your past life tendencies? An instinctual urge for freedom followed you from one incarnation to another. The family ancestries in past lives were linked by inventive minds.

Your inner landscapes were colored by a futuristic vision that occasionally made it difficult to accept how slow the present could move. People found you either aloof or brilliant. You could be unpredictable which either made you seem intriguing or unreliable. You were often a free thinker with progressive ideas. You were exposed to unusual or refreshing ideas early in life. You liked beating to your own drum. You tended to rebel against authority and tried to change institutions you felt to be repugnant. Your ideas could be trend setting. Friendship was something you greatly valued. Even lovers were enjoyed more when becoming friends. New technologies got the best of your curiosity.

You preferred to live in locations that offered much mental stimulation and excitement. You detested boredom. Almost as much did you not like those lacking original thinking. The individualist in you found its way into your work and love. You were not easy to get close to when you wanted your space. Closeness and distance constantly vied for control. A lack of direction and goals brought disorientation. Too much intellect and little feeling created a dry existence. Your subconscious called to you to seek independence and to choose those directions that kept you mentally invigorated.

Moon in 8th house

You had intuitive power when it came to understanding the deeper psychological processes of people. Trust didn't come easy. You instinctually knew to be cautious around those arousing your suspicion in order to ensure your sense of security. A probing psyche allowed you to guard against letting individuals get too close, until getting to know them. When you did depend on someone too much, and got hurt in the process, the scar didn't go away quickly. You tended to process the past diligently.

There were power struggles. It wasn't easy to trust others. If you did draw close to someone, the bond did grow quite deep. Your moods were about as intense as they came. People often wondered what was going on in your head, as many of your thoughts were kept private. There was a mental toughness that separated you from the fainthearted. The downside was self-undoing through compulsive desires and a tendency to be self-destructive. The upside was equally as strong, showing a talent to master incredible creative energies, and to overcome adversity. There were strong survival instincts. An inner feeling to seek passionate and intense relationships was a repeating pattern. You preferred lovers and friends who were generous with their money and property. It encouraged you to open your heart to them. Experiences that fostered your personal empowerment and offered privacy were your favorites.

Ascendant: Persona, Identity, Calling Card

Leo on Ascendant:

With the sign Leo as your past lives Ascendant, occupying center stage often colored your incarnations. Your will power was a blessing or a curse. The good news is that you had tremendous creative drive. The not so good news is that you easily got a bruised ego when your creations didn't get rave reviews. You had a way of making life come to you. You found great power in impressing others with your know-how. Romantic love was a catalyst for bringing out your best or worst. The passion fueled your mind and spirit to express yourself forcefully. When your heart was broken by an unhappy romance, you became bitterly sad. Watching those extremes kept you on a clearer road to success. A flair for the dramatic followed you through several incarnations. You regularly looked out into the world through eyes that sought attention and fame. Leadership roles adorned you. A natural charisma influenced others to follow you. There was never one role in a lifetime that suited you. A need for several outlets was a repeating scenario.

The Quest

Mercury: Communication, Perceptions and Logic

Mercury in Cancer

You were Mercurialized at birth through the sign of Cancer pointing to security-oriented mental impulses in past lives. Being emotional, and at times secretive, was your communication style.

You exercised patience in listening to others. However, if you sensed a change was needed to secure your lifestyle, you did move fast and furious. You initiated actions when your brain sent signals that it was time to put a plan to work. You were careful about how your home was organized. This was one place you needed order to ensure peace of mind.

Family was valued. You showed great loyalty to those you loved. Moods occasionally disrupted your thinking. You found power in overcoming past wounds and disappointments. Your nurturing side caused people to depend on you. It was important that you knew when to draw the line as far as letting others fend for themselves. Your mental outlook in previous incarnations was brighter when you perceived how to find the intimacy you desired, and when you became comfortable with your introspective nature.

Mercury in 3rd house

Your perceptions moved excitedly, giving you instant scans of whatever you encountered. Sometimes you wished you didn't get so bombarded by so many stimuli. You curiously looked out at the world anxious to explore anything even resembling an information highway. Your mind was always set to the ready-alert position to anticipate the next move to be made. Communication was a way of seeking greater stimulation. Your insights into a wide variety of situations came in handy. You regularly impressed people with your interesting way of getting a message across.

You didn't like being told there was one acceptable way of doing things. Activities that gave you plenty of diversification were enjoyable. Repetitive routines made you uneasy. Some accused you of leaving jobs undone due to lack of focus. You excelled in creating shortcuts, even if once in a while you left out a few tedious details.

Venus: Relationships, Values, Comfort.

Venus in Taurus

With the love goddess adorning you through the sign of Taurus at birth, you came from past lives where you sought after sensual and stabilizing relationships. Many people perceived you as symbolizing beauty and calmness. Your social instincts were shaded with a hue of enjoyment in meeting individuals with similar values.

The ideal soul mate was a person with a level head and with a knack for making you feel comfortable. You were attracted to lovers knowing how to make a good living and having the generosity to share their wealth. You didn't like to be rushed to judgment. Actually you became quite stubborn when this did occur. You had a fondness for the arts. Living amongst serene landscapes was a heartfelt need. The hustle and bustle of the competitive business world did not appeal to you. In other lives it was just the opposite, finding yourself an active merchant on Main Street.

Where was the rub? You sometimes were accused of being too possessive of those you loved. Then there were those instances when you became obsessed with physical desires. You found greater happiness when keeping these tendencies in check. Your romantic fulfillment depended greatly on finding partners able to carry their share of the responsibility, and individuals willing to share your love of peace.

Venus in 4th house

You were cautious when interacting socially, trying to tune into the thoughts of others. A reluctance to reveal yourself openly was shown. You tended to be an emotional force in relationships, causing others to reflect about their actions. Feeling-oriented lovers attracted your attention and your attentiveness got to them. You were a privacy-minded person, not letting just anyone really get to know you. The nurturing side of you was selective as to who was going to see this.

Some accused you of being too moody, though you explained it as having intense feelings. Silent withdrawals made you hard to understand. You loved your home and were fond of plants and pets. In some ways you felt more at ease with animals and nature than you did with people. You liked to feel needed, but not drained by too many demands. Your peers perceived you to be supportive, when you allowed them to get to know you. You sometimes denied yourself of things in too austere of a way. This was sometimes due to feeling unworthy or low in spirit. You valued very much where you resided. When individuals showed they cared about you, it made you feel valuable. Protecting those you loved so that they could feel safe meant a lot to you.

Mars: Assertion, Courage, Identity

Mars in Virgo

What would a warrior planet in the earthy sign of Virgo mean regarding your past lives? Your initiating impulse was to proceed cautiously rather than leaping forward spontaneously. You could outrun anyone when you were anxious to get a job done. It's only that you wanted to make sure the coast was clear and no rocks were hidden before making the big decisions. You were impatient with the details you detested but could be meticulous with the little things if they were sniffed out as being important. A competitive spirit came alive when trying to solve a problem. You didn't give up easily, sometimes irritating those wanting you to give up sooner.

Your identity was solidified when working in professions that made you feel productive and fulfilling your potential. Criticism drove a wedge between you and those you loved. You didn't take kindly to having your life critiqued and did bother others when you pounced too harshly on their dreams. When you left the door open to creating win-win situations, guess what happened? People liked you! Angry outbursts were often the result of anxiety over trying to be too perfect. When you found confidence, you worked long hours on a project. Self-doubt doused your passion in a hurry. You had to learn how to pace yourself to maintain your health. Teaching others your skills sometimes stimulated you to think more positively. When you moved with a steady grasp of reality combined with a teaspoon of senseless wonder, the universe did smile upon you with more of its gifts.

Mars in 1st house

You took the initiative to be a self-starter. Your adrenaline got pumping when the spirit moved you to take action. A competitive side came forward when your autonomy was challenged. Fighting to defend your identity was a repeating theme. What made you become territorial? When people were cramping your space. A get off of my cloud response sometimes won you greater freedom.

Impatience caused you to act with reckless abandonment. Was this all bad? No, not really. There were times when it was better you didn't wait for others to tell you what was right or wrong. This was not the most reflective side of you. Regretting your mistakes was not as important as the wisdom gained in learning from them. Assertiveness was an automatic impulse. You felt strange when holding too much back. You expressed anger spontaneously. It was brought on by your disgust with adversaries or when you were tired of waiting for life to catch up to you.

Jupiter: Knowledge, Expansion, Philosophy, Travel

Jupiter in Aquarius

Having Jupiter the planet of good fortune, in the sign of Aquarius indicates that you enthusiastically liked to electrify the minds of others through sharing new ideas. You took great delight in sharing alternative views. You chose to expand your potential through tuning into progressive trends. It wasn't in your nature to sit back and let others dictate the pace with which you explored opportunities. Learning made your mind wake up to see that there were ways you could seize the day. You were a restless student in that you didn't like to waste time on the trivial things. Knowledge was perceived by you as a vast superhighway, with endless routes to satisfy your thirst for information. A positive attitude kept you from growing discouraged if people's minds moved too slow or lacked originality.

When you lost respect for authority figures or institutions, your behavior became rebellious. You found confidence in being true to your own unique beliefs. You made more friends by letting others speak freely about their own ideas. You liked to travel as it was enlivening. You could be stubborn when your thinking became fixed on a train of thought. People liked your decisive way of knowing what you wanted. Though they wished you were less headstrong. When maintaining a broad perspective, you found a more fulfilling sense of direction and that the people you met along life's way were easier to accept.

Jupiter in 8th house

A positive and enterprising outlook influenced you to look for profitable alliances. You felt great if you managed to pull off moving in multiple directions successfully. Although there were times when you regretted not focusing on one major undertaking at a time. Losing important confidantes or romantic partners through not paying attention to them did get you thinking about your priorities. A tendency to be too secretive distanced you from others. Spontaneity in tempting fate, or even living in dangerous situations, made you feel refreshed. Learning to keep life simple proved a wise alternative. Getting lost in compulsive desires needed to be kept in check. A powerful rejuvenation of energy followed when you turned things around. Travel was one of your favorite ways to process information or past experiences. Luck smiled favorably upon you when letting go of your irrational fears. Good fortune came through having the wisdom to know which belief systems would expand your options.

The Journey

Saturn: Ambition, Seriousness, Focus, Responsibility

Saturn in Capricorn

Ambition came through you in a very focused way, says your past lives history, with Saturn in the sobering sign of Capricorn. Being a success was a driving force. Discipline was pretty much accepted as a way of life. Delayed gratification seemed worth it if you could eventually attain desired aims. You learned a lot about responsibility early in life. When you took your time with small steps, you usually got a job done. Your greatest fear was vulnerability. Letting others know you were down wasn't your style. Reputation meant much to you. You wanted to be known as Mr. or Ms. Reliable.

A karmic shadow was a rigid all knowing attitude. When you left room for others to express their opinions, life was certainly more harmonious. It was important to make time for play. Sadness sometimes surfaced in you, if you were too much the loner, allowing little chance for a social life. You often defined yourself through long-term dedication to a profession, and as someone people could trust to do the right thing.

Saturn in 9th house

What was your main focus? It was developing a clear and pragmatic philosophical outlook. You consistently asked at crucial points during an incarnation: how do I maintain a positive attitude? Your idealism was regularly tested. It wasn't easy to have faith in the future. When you made the best of whatever life sent you, it gave you a sense of control. Negativity produced karmic woes. The antidote was greater flexibility in this area, that is, when you were determined not to repeat the same old lessons needing to be learned. Your ethics were high and mighty. If you didn't grow too preachy and narrow in perspective, people liked you.

A shadow was not being open to alternative possibilities. When your mind closed down to seeking new growth, you were more apt to walk into trouble. Trying to force others to buy into your point of view wasn't the way to happiness. Clear definition regarding your overall game plan was a must. A challenge was seeing that worrying didn't make the outcome of situations any better. A major redefining occurred in lifetimes associated with ascertaining which paths would best express your abilities. Learning to believe in your knowledge a key turning point. Wisdom came through making discipline fun and rewarding.

Uranus: Individuality, Goals, Uniqueness, Freedom

Uranus in Leo

You had a tendency to react dramatically about future goals, which indicates Uranus in the sign Leo. Your mind did switch to fast forward when imagining how to express yourself creatively. People couldn't help but notice your ideas, as they often were communicated in a lively manner. You didn't excel in seeing how to include others in major decisions, but did do better with practice.

Inventiveness was a trait that made you proud of yourself. If others didn't openly show their appreciation for your original ideas, you did grow quite upset. You inspired people to make the most of their talents. Even lovers benefited from your ability to see where they may have had hidden ability. Maintaining a sense of direction made you feel that the world was your oyster and that surely the love and rewards you sought would find you.

Uranus in 2nd house

In what way were you unconventional? It was in regard to money and ownership. You had unusual tastes and unpredictable spending patterns. You were sometimes haphazard with finances. Your futuristic vision stimulated your values to change, and led to reinventing yourself. Your goals caused you to go beyond your comfort zones. Taking risks made you nervous, but there were occasions when you tempted fate simply for the experience. A sense of direction made you feel like you had secure footing. You liked independence when it came to knowing you could buy what you needed. You didn't like to be too dependent on others as a way of proving your personal autonomy. You were hard to figure out because you had an inclination to rebel against stability. Yet you tired of life in the fast lane eventually. Freedom to you meant knowing you could start over from scratch if necessary. It also meant earning a living in your own unique way. You were inventive in finding the resources you needed to ensure success and survival.

Neptune: Idealism, Romanticism, Intuition, Dreams, Escapism

Neptune in Scorpio

You believed in ideals that spoke to the passion within you. Your idealism was awakened through finding symbols that gave you a sense of rebirth. Crisis situations were the catalyst that made you use your intuition. The mystical forces of the universe often spoke to and through you. It was not unusual for you to go on silent retreats where you went into deep meditative experiences. Romance had its highs and lows. Balancing the extremes was important. You liked passionate relationships with a bit of mystery surrounding them. Though eventually you often looked for a comforting bond. A lack of trust caused you emotional upheavals. It was reassuring when you found a lover understanding your innermost needs.

A major challenge was addiction to love, sex, and other forms of escape. This isn't saying you always fell into these behaviors. When you found the clarity and strength to channel this intensity positively, life was more enjoyable. You wanted from the deepest part of your soul to create a life that reflected your self-mastery. You had strong dedication to those you loved and a determination to show the world your talents. You found transcendental growth through dealing with unfinished business from the past, and walking forcefully toward the challenges you instinctually knew would scare and fulfill you at the same time.

Neptune in 11th house

In what way were you extra intuitive? It was in regard to a sense of direction. You could feel out the way to go. The exception being if you became disillusioned with your world. You became mesmerized by unique thinking individuals. Especially those with a seductive presence, speaking words that encouraged you to transcend ordinary time and place. Your idealism found you seeking unique ideals.

A test was not being with people doing a lot of taking, giving little in return. Your spirituality was usually unconventional, or at least you thought for yourself. What was the biggest challenge? It was when you felt like you were treading water and having no idea how to move forward. You did get fogged when your favorite dreams turned out to be mirages. This often happened after not really facing reality. Faith transformed your denial into an objective gaze at your possibilities. You searched for a purpose that pushed you to vigorously pursue your hopes.

Pluto: Personal Power, Self-mastery, Rebirth, Loss, Passion

Pluto in Virgo

Empowering yourself through using analytical ability was a past lives tendency. Perfection drove you on to try to do great things. Being reasonable in your expectations was wise. Extreme worry was sometimes a downfall. Curbing this tendency did make you happier and allowed for greater productivity. Charisma was exhibited through working forcefully at whatever you made your life mission. Escaping into projects made you less nervous. There was a habit of putting your heart and soul into a cause.

There was a shadow. What was it? Criticism. You could spot if something was out of place in a second. You did at times overly pick apart yourself or others. When you got this one under control, good fortune was never far away. Self-mastery was discovered through deciphering the ways to work smarter rather than harder. You found rebirth or a sense of fulfillment when overcoming negative thought patterns, and seeing that altered perceptions were truly miracles.

Pluto in 1st house

How did you go about seeking personal empowerment? You did your best to stay a self-determined individual. This simply means you didn't like taking your P's and Q's from others. A renewed sense of purpose was discovered through courageously initiating actions. This wasn't necessarily always easy. When opposing forces in the form of people or other circumstances got in your way, it took great fortitude to move ahead. There was a side of you that purposely created daredevil challenges. It became necessary to restrain this urge. You were self-conscious. It angered you to be criticized. Strong partners or friends challenged you to live up to your potential. Though you often didn't need much prodding. A powerful self-examination manifested itself when you weren't happy with your own growth. A compulsive desire to clarify your identity got you to ask thought-provoking questions. A shadow frequently followed you into incarnations connected to fearing that you might actually find out who you really were. When you accepted your need to work on yourself in a positive light, a new revitalized you was born.

Footnotes

You have already been introduced to the ten planets. Certain planetary pairs in your chart have a special relationship to one another due to particular angular distances separating them, known as aspects. You could say the two planets in an aspect travel and interact together along the same circuit.

It might be helpful to keep some keywords in mind for the aspects. The sextile represents Excitation and Eagerness. The planets in this aspect give clues as to how their energies worked in a stimulating way through you. The trine is a special Harmony. The two planets involved show you were confident of their interacting energies. The conjunction is where two planets are joined at the hip. There is a Fusion or powerful blending of these energies. The square can reveal where you encountered Friction. Pay special attention to these aspects in particular because they denote themes that are strong past patterns. Squares ask us to resolve their conflict by finding creative outlets. The opposition requires a Balancing act. It is similar to a seesaw. Gaining objective awareness about each planet is a key. Remember, it was usually the most intense aspects that stretched you the most in past lives.

Moon square Venus

You found channeling your intense feelings into work or other productive activities wise. The giving and receiving of support was crucial to your happiness in intimate encounters. You often knew what you needed from others in relationships, but it wasn't easy to get it. Insecurity caused you to be with the wrong partners. When you did feel confident, chances became better to land the right person. Trusting yourself was a key to fulfillment.

Moon oppose Uranus

You liked people not afraid of change. Though individuals disrupting your sense of security made you feel uneasy. The bottom line was that you needed to have your own pet goals supported before feeling comfortable with a person. Friendships with a wide array of people were common. Those respecting your need for freedom and making you feel accepted when drawing close were your favorites. Rebelling against authority figures was an instinct you usually possessed.

Moon oppose Node

You usually linked with a partner when you were hoping to get support for your life directions. You never really liked to go it alone. This doesn't mean you had no independence. It's only saying your intuitive energies often got stimulated through your people connections. You did need to keep those dependency needs balanced. It was better when you didn't try to derive all of your meaning out of a relationship

Moon square Midheaven

The pressure you put on yourself to satisfy work and home demands were stressful. Keeping these areas in balance was testy. If you became too overprotective it made you worry. Learning to let go gave your life more pleasure. You were intense about ambitions. A restless desire to achieve success was a trait. You had sudden mood swings that made for inner turbulence. This energy did at times bring instability. Although, when harnessed this force did give you the courage to try things otherwise that might have passed you by. It was important that you discriminated what causes were worth your time and dedication.

Moon oppose Ascendant

Relationships had a way of making you take a good look at yourself. You needed to be careful in not trying to find an unrealistic sense of security in a lover. Your intuition sensed who were the best individuals to have in romance or friendship, that is, if you listened to it.

Sun conjunct Mercury

You could think fast on your feet. Mental flashes quickly darted across your mind. Some thought you nervous, others brilliantly witty. Details either fascinated you or made you feel crazy. A sense of order was desired so you could clearly decipher how to manifest your creativity. There was a serious meticulous side, combined with a perception of life's absurd ironies. Communication was an area you always could declare bragging rights. If you talked without careful thinking, you did get into trouble. At least one critiquing eye constantly peered out its socket, analyzing fact from fiction. It was critical that you were harder on a problem than on yourself or those you loved.

Sun trine Neptune

You had a belief system that got you through times of trouble. Spirituality revitalized your dreams when they lost their intensity. You did sometimes wander aimlessly or with too much starry idealism. You found focus when discovering the things in life that motivated. Creative expression had a way of lifting your spirits.

Venus trine Saturn

You had at least one side of you that respected tradition. You were more inclined to trust friends and lovers that had common sense. Your relationships had a stabilizing effect on you. There was a pleasant demeanor you possessed that drew others to you. The longer you were committed to a lover or family, the more value you placed on these areas. What you lacked in ambition, you often made up for in meeting people encouraging you to go after your serious desires.

Venus square Uranus

Relationships weren't always a stabilizing influence on you. It's perhaps more accurate to say that sooner or later you realized that some individuals just weren't worth the trouble as they kept disrupting your peace. It was hard to stop a natural attraction to those unpredictable and exciting types. You were usually very experimental in relationships and even in work. The cutting edge was designed on your behalf. A rebellious nature incarnated with you over and over again. Finding ways to channel this wild and freedom-oriented energy took some time. Continuity in friendships and with lovers wasn't all that steady. There were exceptions! Yes, you had long-term commitments, that is, when you either found someone like yourself, who appreciated your uniqueness. It never really made you happy to follow the lead of someone all of the time. It felt like prison. You were meant to have the autonomy to search for the paths that brought you to the height of self-discovery. If you trampled too much over someone else's rights, it usually came back to haunt you. Mutual support of goals was better than you or someone else doing all of the receiving

Venus square Node

Rushing into relationships with reckless abandonment usually was three steps backward. Compulsive desires called to you regularly. Fighting comfort in favor of creating conflict grew tiring. What was the good news? You were determined to make it in the world one way or another. Sitting back and waiting for success you realized didn't get the job done. You were a go-getter. Later in life, you often slowed down just enough to accept that peace and quiet were not so bad. Sabotaging the good things was a habit if not gotten under control. You liked to eat, drink and be merry. Celebrating the milestones was enjoyable. Finding a lover that shared your zest and vitality was essential.

Venus oppose Midheaven

Finding the right balance between home and work was important to you. You were sensitive about getting emotional support from those you loved. Doubting your decisions was something you had to overcome if you were going to be happy. You liked having a soul mate or a special someone with whom to share ideas. A team spirit gave you greater confidence. Living up to the expectations of others was a challenge. You were more content when becoming your own person.

Venus square Ascendant

You liked to be in the limelight. The actor or actress was part of your self-expression. A craving for attention did put stress on your partnerships. Your values often clashed with certain partners. It was when you compromised too easily that you suffered the most in the end. You squandered money mostly when you were unhappy with love and feeling frustrated with limiting circumstances. When learning how to take things less personally you did not get as distracted from your life aims. You eventually noticed that decisiveness was better than endlessly sitting on the fence.

Mars conjunct Pluto

People were in the habit of challenging your power. The trick was how to keep from escalating problems. You had your share of battle scars. Fighting for survival was a repeating pattern. Anger had a tendency to build over periods of time and then erupt. Your closest companions could sense when you were angry by your silence or moods. An intensity to take on a new challenge just for the adventure was another trait. You were forceful when wanting your own way. A passionate person you were. It didn't take long for others to see you made quite a formidable opponent due to a competitive streak. Patience was a key to self-mastery. Quiet contemplation helped you better get a handle on your intensity. You found out much about yourself when confronted by adversity. Seeking revenge sometimes haunted you. Letting go of the past was a slow process.

Mars conjunct Node

When you incarnated it wasn't exactly quietly, more like two cymbals colliding loudly. You were meant to be bold and attract attention. If you grew too aggressive people resisted your force. If you lacked assertiveness, you were too easily taken for granted. So what was your happiest strategy? It was when being decisive, but also knowing the consequences of your actions. You had to be spontaneous much of the time. Careless disregard for others caused problems. Courageous actions were often rewarded. The warrior archetype wanted expression in the various roles you chose to act out. Anger boiled over if you sat on it for too long. Of course, exercising no self-control made you a difficult force to deal with. You had a self-motivation that guided you to embark on trails that others shied away from. Facing your own shortcomings made you a stronger person.

Mars conjunct Ascendant

Assertiveness was never that much of a problem. You were usually ready to charge ahead at a moment's notice. Finding ways to express a dynamo of energy was the challenge. Patience was your greatest test. You could become consumed with your own needs. People liked you more when you acted interested in their goals. You had a real thing about your identity. There was a tendency to keep trying to prove you were a winner. There was a competitor in you that hated to lose. You initiated quite well but didn't necessarily finish, unless real interested in the project. Utilizing anger needed your wisest discretion.

Jupiter square Neptune

Your faith could either be impeccable or be filled with holes of doubt. It was escapism that hijacked your happiness. Facing your shortcomings gave you the strength to deal with whatever came your way. You believed in love. Your romances were many. You found the greatest peace when realizing you could survive alone or with that special someone. There was a divine discontent with reality that either drove you to be creative or to become disillusioned. You detested limits. Whatever you could imagine you thought possible to accomplish. An intense desire to follow a spiritual path suddenly came upon you. There was conflict in chasing what the world offered and satisfying an inner longing for peace. You weren't easy to live with because you were so changeable in likes and dislikes. When you did become content, you had to stay grounded to really let the experience engulf you. Ideals inspired your creativity.

Uranus conjunct Node

Independence was a big key to your fulfillment. People had to walk fast and at least a little off center to understand what really drove you. Unpredictable was your name, uniqueness was your game. Your mind quickly cut right through society's rules, and perceived where you needed to be. Compromises were not easy, and too many of them felt stifling. Your mission was to be an innovator and occasionally to cause an upheaval of everyday reality. You followed a sense of direction that for sure beat to your own drum. Your long-term acquaintances respected your devotion to autonomy. When allowing others to express their own ideas freely, you made interesting links to the unconventional thinkers. It was possible to fit into mainstream society, especially after you made peace with your own true paths. Sooner or later, you realized the need to have stabilizing individuals around you, that is, if you really wanted to settle down. Toning down a me-first attitude did keep people closer. A ferocious need to reinvent yourself manifested when you had outgrown the present.

Uranus square Midheaven

Creating stability wasn't your first impulse as there was a tendency to be an agent of change. Unfortunately this made it difficult to achieve stability at home or out in the world. Putting this inner and outer struggle to rest brought harmony. The challenge resided in being able to find ways to channel this forceful energy constructively. You anxiously wanted to receive support and approval for your goals. Breaking free from everyone else's expectations did point you in the right direction. Rebelling with no sense of purpose spelled disaster and left your life in pieces. Nobody could really say that you were someone without opinions. It was finding that middle ground of doing your own thing and not stepping on the rights of others that yielded fulfillment.

Uranus conjunct Ascendant

You weren't accused of being real predictable. Hoping that everyday was unique was more like what you wanted. Freedom was your greatest need. Equality was a sensitive issue. You had fast reflexes. A lack of forethought sometimes got you to make compulsive decisions. Keeping your mind occupied made you less nervous. Some perceived you to be a rebel. It was in knowing when and where to fight for change that you had the challenge. There were individuals finding you eccentric and erratic. There were even lives when you fought against change, usually because it infringed on your beliefs, or you just plain didn't want to budge. Learning to compromise made for less friction. You were someone with electrifying ideas that stimulated others.

Pluto conjunct Node

If you are reading this one then you must already have a feeling that you were a powerful person. People felt your intensity of purpose. When losing your way, you erupted from within. Finding a mission that took you to self-mastery was an innate need. You didn't let anyone stop you from accomplishing key objectives. Becoming consumed by your attachments was a problem. Knowing when to curb compulsive drives didn't happen overnight. You had a way of summoning the strength to survive. Even making contact with mystical forces wasn't out of your reach. You went through dramatic rebirths following a crisis or loss. In meeting certain individuals your whole life turned around. You cheated death more than once. Being attracted to danger, you did need to watch how far you went in tempting fate. When you truly empowered yourself is when you felt centered. When not forcing things to happen, you attracted good experiences.

Midheaven square Node

If you are reading this one, then you don't need to be reminded again that your most serious focuses always became the bread and butter of fulfillment. When not challenged, an inner conflict tormented you. Your intuition made a pact with reality that you would work hard as long as you got to play. Balancing the needs of profession and family were quite a challenge. You wanted both in a big way. Pleasing each tore you apart if not staying true to your own soul growth. People took notice of your accomplishments, sometimes giving you more recognition than you gave yourself. Making peace with the past freed you in the present and launched the magic of the future.

Ascendant conjunct Node

Your identity and major life missions were fused together. You were usually anxious to put your own personal style into whatever you got into as a serious life direction. You were fast to initiate actions. If you became too self-centered, life had a way of showing you that it was important to consider the needs of others. Though if you became forgetful about your own goals, events transpired that signaled you needed to wake up and go after your own pursuits. The key here was awareness.

Your Past Houses

Just as the Ascendant in the Passport section that began this report was described as a sign serving a special purpose, each of the other eleven houses has a sign that helps define its meaning. What follows is a trip through each of the other past lives houses or environments to give you a view of additional characteristics. First are listed the keywords for each house.

2nd House: Comfort, values, money, ownership.Cancer on 2nd house:

You showed an inclination to play it safe. This doesn't mean you never took a risk, only that you made sure they were well-calculated ones. There were times you missed out on a few opportunities by not moving forward fast enough. You needed warm-up time to adjust to change. You tended to be a bit clingy in relationships, but not necessarily possessive. You let go more when lovers gave you no reason to be concerned about a commitment. Your emotions intensified when your sense of security was threatened. Loyalty to friends, family and lovers is what kept them close. Family and home were highly valued.

3rd House: Perceptions, learning, communication, insight.Gemini on 3rd house:

A fast paced mental nature was a key feature. Ideas had a way of spinning through your brain quickly. Boredom with life when it grew too predictable occurred. Changing directions too much before finishing what you started was a challenge. Travel was a way to keep you mentally stimulated. The world of books entertained you. A curiosity about life was a trait. Adapting to new circumstances is something you did rather successfully. You welcomed change if it promised hope or the possibility of new options. Your perceptions about people and life in general often surprised others. Being a catalyst for change gave you a feeling of self-importance.

4th House: Home, security, nurturing, roots.Taurus on 4th house:

Developing a stable inner sense of security and relaxed home atmosphere was something you desired. Some accused you of being a bit possessive. A calm inner stability came when you felt in control of your life. It's not that you didn't like surprises, but preferred the ones that were more pleasing to the heart and mind. You found it essential not to let stress get the best of you.

5th House: Self-expression, creativity, confidence, romance, risk-taking.Aries on 5th house:

A powerful creative drive colored past incarnations. Your ego was bruised when you saw your creations being ignored. An innate drive to be the center of attention was a regular pattern. You had several lives that featured a ferocious competitive spirit. An endless energy to express yourself blessed you. You were lost when living out meaningless roles. You became bored when not challenged. Love made you feel on top of the world. Entering relationships quickly was a past lives tendency. You took it personally when lovers or friends didn't openly cheer you on in life. You didn't always pace yourself. Your hunches about investments sometimes lacked reasoning. But at the same time your courage in taking risks sometimes paid off.

6th House: Learning skills, work environment, perfection, diet, health.

Pisces on 6th house:

You had high expectations. It doesn't mean you were always a perfectionist. But sometimes perfection haunted you. It was realizing when you had done enough on a project or task that was the key. You were very devoted to learning new skills, once you discovered the directions you needed to be pursuing. You didn't always rely on your intuition enough. It was integrating your powers of analysis with your feelings that made for a challenge. Too much dedication to causes that gave you little in return was a potential downfall. You did learn a few lessons about reality testing as life went on. You hated criticism. It stopped you from really showing your true talent. Your faith did allow you to climb over a few hurdles now and then. If you grew very disappointed in people, it did cause you to drown your sorrows in negativity. You didn't like facing reality all that much. Balancing idealism and pragmatism was a challenge.

7th House: Relationships, marriage, partnerships, social awareness.

Aquarius on 7th house:

Your relationships were customarily unpredictable. You were attracted to individualists. The types of partners were as varied as possibly could be. Even peers came from a wide array of backgrounds. You liked individuals with progressive minds. People stating the obvious didn't hold your attention. An attraction to individuals fighting limiting traditions did occur. Freedom in your partnerships was a strong drive. You rebelled against those trying to limit it. Definitely you were not so comfortable being ruled by a need to act politically correct. Your usual thought pattern was that love wasn't a permanent guarantee. So it was a good idea to make the most of the moment! You were experimental in relationships. You transcended the boundaries of what a society deemed as acceptable. You didn't always fit what the rules defined as okay. Questioning authority happened regularly. Equality in partnerships was essential to your happiness.

8th House: Power, joint resources, rebirth, passion, self-mastery.

Capricorn on 8th house:

You were quite cautious with your money. You liked to know where every dollar was going. This didn't always warm the heart of your romantic partners. You preferred mates that could either understand your logic, or let you control the assets. If you grew too tight with your money, lovers became angry. Wastefulness was something you didn't tolerate too well. Power struggles occurred when you refused to negotiate. You usually felt pushed toward success. Your ambition was at times intense. You attracted responsibility as much as a sweet smelling flower pulls in the bees. When you stayed clear of too much rigidity, your relationships were more flowing. Showing emotions wasn't easy. Hurt feelings tended to stay with you. You did become tough skinned so that you weren't easily talked out of your goals.

9th House: travel, learning, philosophy, knowledge, optimism.

Sagittarius on 9th house:

You loved to travel. You didn't believe there was necessarily one absolute truth in solving life's dilemmas. Your philosophy tended to be eclectic in nature. Drawing from a wide range of knowledge was your style. People either liked your bluntness or detested it. It didn't really bother you one way or the other. You were wise when not thinking too narrowly. When you became too judgmental your vision was fogged. You were normally a restless soul. You didn't like feeling down for long. You only grew lazy if clouds of boredom settled over you. Fatigue and loss of direction were more the result of not finding any inspiration. Though you could rekindle that spark in a flash. You liked to sway the minds of others through persuasive speech.

10th House: Professions, ambition, leadership, focus, commitments.

Scorpio on 10th house:

You were a no nonsense type. Work was not to be taken lightly in your eyes. Life had to be on your own terms. This means you were not going to be forced without quite a fight into doing things against your will. You usually carried yourself with a powerful presence. You found your way in the world with a ferocious determination. If your ambitions met with resistance, you took this quite personally. You came back that much harder with a persistent effort to succeed. Controlling behaviors didn't make you popular, nor did the bossy ones. You enjoyed showing others that you could take care of yourself. People did sometimes envy your life. When you generously helped those in need, you were admired. When the chips were down, you grew that much stronger. Adversity brought out your strength. Power struggles occurred either due to people trying to manipulate you or because you were attempting to display your own sense of self-mastery. You needed to balance a tendency to being consumed by work. Forgiveness was the key to getting things back on track in your relationships.

11th house: Goals, individuality, freedom, inventive, progressive, unique.

Libra on 11th house:

You had a tendency to weigh your options carefully before moving forward. This doesn't mean you had no sense of direction! It is just describing the way you liked to mull things over before proceeding ahead to reach goals. It was frustrating if you allowed others to talk you out of things you needed for yourself. You depended heavily on the input of friends. Learning to tune into your intuition sometimes gave you clearer vision. A lover was a disruptive force occasionally, especially if you looked for too much of yourself in the relationship. Love aroused your passion to go after the future, but could be so unpredictable it caused you to lose your way. You were sensitive about getting support from those closest to you.

12th house: Idealism, intuition, escape, faith, beliefs.

Virgo on 12th house:

You showed a realistic approach to expressing your ideals. This doesn't mean you were never intuitive or refused to act on faith. It only means your subconscious tendency was to think first, and believe later. Perfection was a nagging voice in your head. It served you well when it came to performing with excellence. However, it tormented you when you couldn't accept that your best efforts were good enough. You got too lost in following others causes. A clash between your mind and feelings did occur. You dealt with this in two ways. Either denying you had feelings or boldly letting others know just how you felt. A fear of making a mistake was frustrating. Whenever you had the faith not to let self-doubt rule you, life sent you great abundance. When you kept from surrendering too much power, you were happier.

Retrograde Planets

Planets in actuality never really move backward, but can appear to do so. This is referred to as retrograde motion, and as you will read has special past life meaning surrounding a particular planet's symbolism. The following are planets that were moving retrograde at your birth with a description as to how this played out for you in other incarnations.

Mercury Retrograde:

It was a repeating pattern that you had a challenge in keeping your thoughts positive. Your analytical side was well developed more often than not. A tendency to instinctively rethink your decisions was a trait. Knowing when to stop trying to perfect a task was essential to your happiness. You became nervous if rushed into decisions. Instant recall of facts happened when you least expected it. There was a need to feel like you could control the pace of your mind. You weren't bothered by information overload, as long it was facts of your choosing, or preference. The challenge was to stay clear of becoming compulsively negative in your thinking. When you felt mentally at ease and clear, life seemed good.

Jupiter retrograde:

It was a repeating pattern that you had a challenge in not foolishly believing in the wrong things or people. When you were on target and accurately assessing situations, you were a dynamo of efficiency and inspiration. Another challenge was in the area of confidence. When you lost faith it took the wind out of your sails. The search for an expansive enough vision was an innate drive. People didn't respond as well if you preached dogma or grew too judgmental. When you kept an open mind there was less friction. You had a capacity to embrace a positive outlook, that is, if self-doubt didn't seep into your thinking. Another challenge was running too fast to where the grass might be greener, running away from facing problems. The optimist in you needed to know limits. When you walked with commonsense and put your ideas into worthwhile actions, the world had no choice but to eventually give into your needs for self-discovery.

Saturn retrograde:

It was a repeating pattern that you had much to learn regarding flexibility versus rigidity. These two opposites were a sore spot of contention. A tendency to get extremely focused when you enjoyed a role was a past pattern. You were happier when feeling in control of your life. Knowing when to show vulnerability and when to show a tough set of armor was wisdom indeed! Some thought you lacked ambition. What they didn't see working behind the scenes was your inner search to find professions and directions that seemed worth the effort. An inclination toward becoming a one-dimensional workaholic was a potential trap. Remembering that life was a multidimensional panorama made for happier times.

There was a need to steer clear of icebergs that brought depression and feelings of rejection. Responding with courage to your commitments lessened your anxiety about them. It was in not letting fear keep you from the love and success you painfully wanted that you reached the highest of milestones.

Neptune Retrograde:

It was a repeating pattern that you needed to watch out what you asked life for. Do you know why? Because you were apt to get it! A tendency to have a strong intuitive quality was a past pattern. In some incarnations you were quite the poet, artist, entertainer or mystic. Perfection wasn't so nice to you in that divine discontent was troublesome, making it a challenge to be satisfied. When you were reasonable or grounded, life was simpler. Getting focused occurred after becoming inspired. There were times when you had premonitions of things to come. This either gave you great faith or was scary. The more you accepted your sixth sense, the easier it was to express outwardly. Another challenge was achieving discipline and utilizing reality testing. When you made a commitment not to run away from conflict, you found clarity. When letting your ideals guide you, life seemed more magical and full of inspiring symbols. Belief in a higher power sustained you through many tough challenges. Lovers were inspirational in stimulating your creativity. You liked the idea of a special someone with whom to share your dreams. Developing a spiritual understanding and a sacred place within kept you walking on the straight and narrow with great awareness, pointing you to pleasurable escapes, and kept you guilt-free.
